Pentagon deploys troops along Mexico border

WASHINGTON

THE Pentagon said it has begun deploying 1,500 active duty troops to help secure the southern border, putting in motion plans President Donald Trump laid out in executive orders shortly after he took office to crack down on immigration.

Acting Defence Secretary Robert Salesses said the troops will fly helicopters to assist Border Patrol agents and help in the construction of barriers. The Pentagon also will provide military aircraft for Department of Homeland Security deportation flights for more than 5,000 detained migrants.

The number of troops and their mission may soon change, Salesses said in a statement. "This is just the beginning," he said.

"In short order, the department will develop and execute additional missions in cooperation with DHS, federal agencies, and state partners to address the full range of threats outlined by the President at our nation's borders," Salesses said. Defence officials added that the department is prepared to provide many more troops if asked, including up to 2,000 more Marines.

Officials said there was no plan now for the troops to do law enforcement, which would put them in a dramatically different role for the first time in decades. Any decision on this would be made by the White House, they said.

The active duty forces will join the roughly 2,500 US National Guard and Reserve forces already there. Until this deployment, there were no active duty troops working along the roughly 2,000mile border. A couple hundred troops started moving to the border earlier Wednesday, according to a senior military official. The troops will include 500 Marines from Camp Pendleton in California, and the remainder will be Army. AP

Spanish film Emilia P'rez leads with 13 nominations at Oscar

WASHINGTON

In the wake of devastating wildfires in Los Angeles that struck at the heart of the movie industry, an embattled Hollywood lined up behind the Netflix narco-musical about trans identity 'Emilia P'rez' in Oscar nominations Thursday. Jacques Audiard's 'Emilia

P'rez,' a Spanish language, Frenchmade film, dominated the nominations with a leading 13 nominations, including best picture and best actress for Karla Sof'a Gasc'n, making her the first openly trans actor ever nominated for an Oscar. The film also landed nominations for directing, original screenplay, two of its songs and for Zoe Salda'a. Netflix, despite its starring role in Hollywood, has never won best picture. Many of its top contenders have previously racked up large numbers of nominations (including 'Mank,' 'The Irishman' and 'Roma') but gone home with only a handful of trophies. AP

Two Palestinians killed for carrying out Jan 6 attack on bus in West Bank

JERUSALEM

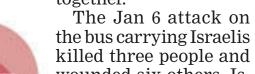

ISRAELI forces have killed two Palestinian militants who carried out a deadly attack on a bus in the West Bank earlier this month.

The Israeli military said Thursday that the two men barricaded themselves in a structure in the West Bank village of Burgin and exchanged fire with Israeli troops before they were killed overnight.

The army said a soldier was moderately wounded.

The military said Mohammed Nazzal and Katiba al-Shalabi were operatives with the Islamic Jihad militant group.

The Hamas militant group released a statement claiming the two men were members of its armed wing and praising the bus attack. Hamas and the smaller and more radical Islamic Jihad are allies that sometimes carry out attacks together.
